Isaac Kappy

In 2018?^[citation needed] she began to research Isaac Kappy's claims about paedophilia in Hollywood^[1] and was undeterred by his sudden death in May 2019. Two months later, she herself suddenly died. Someone posted a dead man's switch video on YouTube in which she outlines some of what she uncovered, the FBI's pronounced lack on interest and the subsequent death threats made against her.

Hey Steve, I just tried to send you a message through twitter, but I don't see it listed under sent messages. Did you get it? Thanks.

It was a link to this video, which I made to show just you and one other person.

It's about a person who owns a private campground in Williams, AZ right where Kappy was just before he died. This person sent me many messages threatening me and my son, after I exposed a bunch of child traffickers on YouTube. He also took credit for having hacked my computer and online accounts, and accurately described in these public confessions how he did it. I am still afraid of him and his friends, which is why I don't want to talk in public. Everything that I experienced during these attacks last year matches up with what happened to Kappy before his death, and I had already told Kappy about these people in Williams. I think he might have gone out there to investigate, or they brought him to that area because they knew they get away with murdering him out there.

Last Tuesday the campground was listed as "Permanently Closed," all of the sudden, which seems an extraordinary coincidence to me. I've gathered evidence that something very bad was going on out there. From the Twitter feed I looked at, it appeared that a large percentage of the people who went out there to camp were Turks. Why would dozens of businessmen from Turkey be going out to the middle of the desert in Arizona to camp? At a camp ground that, according to the reviews, was rather shitty (and according to one reviewer, they were chased away by the owner wielding a gun and threatening to murder them)?

There is a mind control aspect to this. The campground owner boasted of his abilities in this department. It would explain a lot about Kappy's actions in the end.

Anyway, I'll leave you to absorb this.

 I know people in Portland who have walked out of the hospital with a Xanax prescription. And the Oregon Health Plan covers it.
